The Erie Food Bank is the largest non-profit food distribution organization in northwest Pennsylvania.

Our Food Bank supplies food to 270 pantries, soup kitchens, shelters, and other human service agencies in 11 northwest Pennsylvania counties.

Each dollar spent by the Food Bank can obtain over 8 pounds of food!

However, the retail value of the food is $2.10 per pound.

The people served by Food Bank member agencies may include unemployed and underemployed workers, those who are elderly or disabled, and families caught in crisis situations.

Food is donated to the Food Bank by growers, packers, manufacturers and distributors, the food industry, the government, and people like you.

Because the food is donated, the cost (trucking, utilities, insurance, supplies, and payroll) to obtain one pound of food is only $0.12!
